The 1996-97 Hallmark staff is pleased to dedicate this yearbook to George Henry, whose upstanding citizenship and teaching have made him a favorite among students and faculty alike.

George has a long and distinguished career, only the last few years of which have seen him at Rowland Hall. He has traditionally taught United States history, but has also, on occasion, taught government, world geography, African American studies, and world history. He has been heavily involved in the College Board's Committee on Membership, and the Western Region Academic Advisory Council. He has served on the Magazine of History's advisory board of the Organization of American Historians.

He taught social studies at Salt Lake City's old South High School from 1975 to 1988; and social studies at Highland High School from 1988 to 1993, the year he came to Rowland Hall-St. Mark's. During his tenure here he has been heavily involved in student government, most actively as faculty advisor to the student council. He is well-known for his annual lectures to class retreat participants who wake him up too early. On occasion he delights the school by playing the piano or organ. (He is organist and director of music at the First Baptist Church, Salt Lake City.)

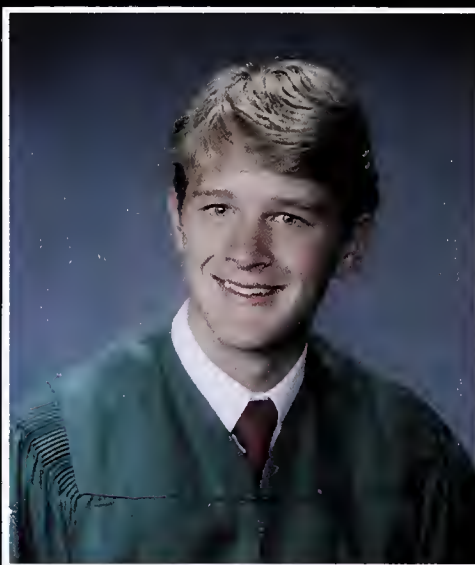

George is a perennial favorite during student assemblies and pep rallies. His enthusiasm for and devotion to the school have made him an obvious and natural selection for this small honor. Thank you!

Senior Retreat

We're how many feet under ground?

"But Tara, I have to get into college!"

What a cute group!

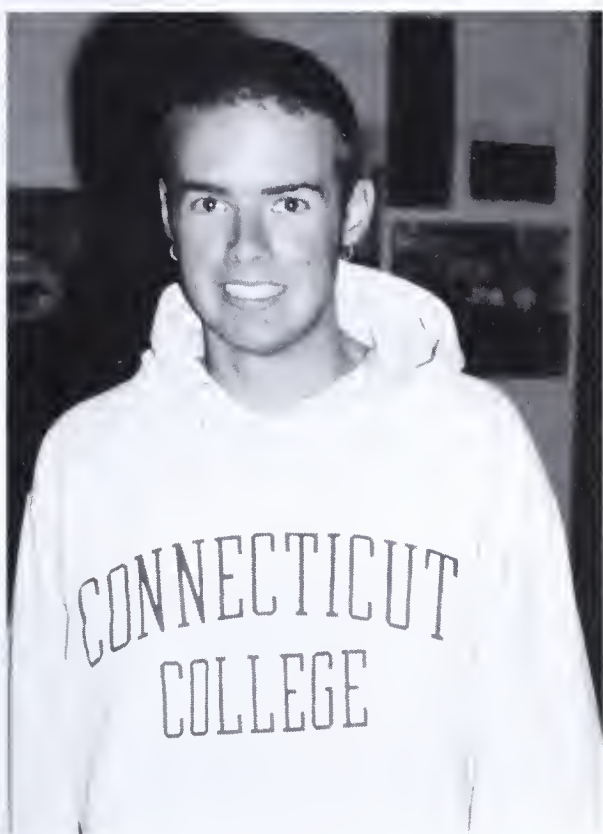

We can't sing if we're laughing!

"Hey, dude"

"Don't lose your pants, Cody!"

How's this smile?

Are you joking?

"What are you going to do about it?"

Einstein once said . . .

This year the seniors got to travel up Parley's Canyon to Park City for yet another "bonding experience." They spent the evening watching movies, playing Nintendo, talking, playing cards, playing football, juggling a volleyball, watching "Baywatch", walking supervised to 7-11 for treats, or just being loud. As curfew quickly rolled around everyone headed to their rooms for a good night's sleep. The next morning after breakfast the seniors headed off to a day in the "Silver Mine Adventure." After spending time thousands of feet underground they resurfaced and enjoyed the hospitality of Tia Masters as they ate lunch and played volleyball at her house. Overall, the senior retreat was a great success. Everyone had a good time and stayed out of trouble!

Junior Class Retreat

"Okay, what did you do David?"

"Adios Muchacha."

"Do ya feel the vibes man?"

Sara, Jess, and Kristina: Happy Retreaters!

"What?...Huh?"

Great scenery . . .

The Boyz.

Emily, Christina, and...Pocahontas.

"Um, I don't feel so good."

A class so close that it shows.

"What-ever!"

The Test of the Tuffies.

For the 1996 Junior Class Retreat, the juniors were hauled up to Camp Utaba in two large tour buses. To start off the evening, Joan Kingston led them in the Macarena and George Henry followed with hours of songs and games. All of this continued until the juniors were saved by a thunderstorm. At this point everyone ran to their cabins. Running through the trees to find shelter was like Lord of the Flies all over again. Because of the thunder, the juniors did not actually fall asleep until early the next morning at the breakfast table. Little did they know, more games and songs awaited them.

By the end of the trip, the juniors were absolutely exhausted, dirty, and ready for a shower and bed. Dylan playing his drum, and Andrew shooting people with his toy gun all the way home on the bus did not help the numerous number of headaches.

Overall, it was a great trip! Class bonding—what more could a junior want?!

Right: Now, step back just a little.

I don't know what came over us . . . All of a sudden we got this sudden urge to lift people.

"Come on . . . don't let go . . . you can make it!!"

The sophomore retreat was once again held at Camp Tuttle in Big Cottonwood Canyon during the last week in September. Once again there was the traditional ropes course, meant to help the sophomores grow, learn from, and bond with each other. Once again there was good food together, discussions of important topics, and a little bit of rain to help with the ambiance. Camp Tuttle has a long history as a "retreat resort," and so the facilities there are designed to foster positive group experiences in the most efficient and productive manner. RHSM's annual sophomore class experience there has proven to be a very popular one. The early autumn days, clear and crisp, only add to the experience. At retreat's end, happy campers and faculty board the busses to disembark down the canyon and back to the reality of school and home life.

Do you think they know we're watching?

Can we go home yet?

Freshman Interdisciplinary Trip

Klutz!!!

Anna's look alike.

What the #!@* is going on?

"The Thinker"

The peanut gallery.

My parents are going to kill me.

Don't even go there.

"But Mom, he followed me home!"

Our fearless faculty.

The freshman class survived wind and heavy rain, while enjoying the Coral Pink Sand Dunes in Kanab. Brian Pyper led the group through an exciting adventure of orienteering with compass, head scratching, and faith in the value of a comfortably full stomach, while Ms. Beck expanded our creativity with a writing workshop on creation myths. Participants observed the Kanab creek flora and fauna and measured the flow rate of the running water, led by Mr. Hayes. "It never ceases to amaze me, the way these young people learn," he was heard to exclaim on several occasions during the four-day event. In a word, "Dude, it was awesome!"

Adopt-a-Block

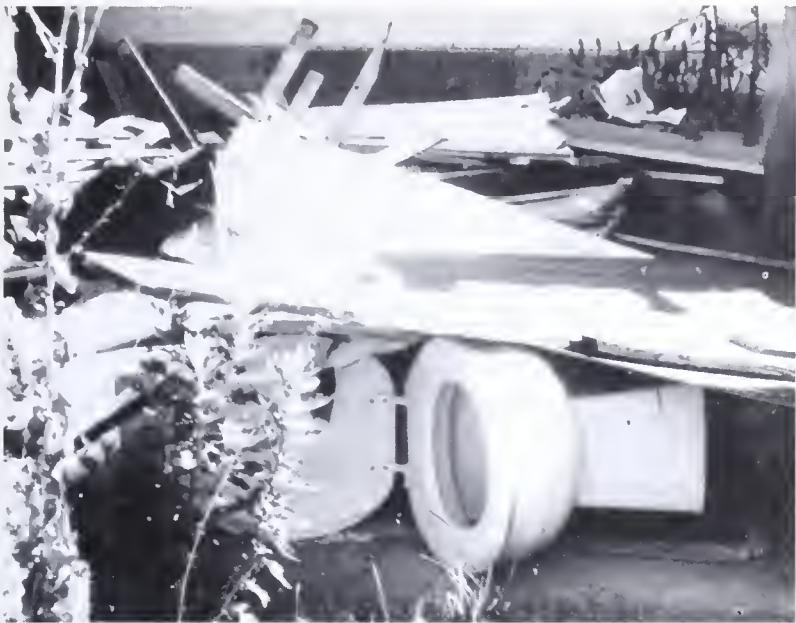

As usual, Adopt-a-Block was a big success this year under the guidance of Dave Hall, Dean of Student Activities. Taking place on Saturday September 21, 1996, from nine to one, over 60 students showed up to help our neighbors on Lincoln St. and 10th East with yard work or other fall clean-up jobs. Many teachers also showed their support by coming and helping the students in their efforts. The Home and School Board supplied a picnic lunch for all participants, who had worked up a hearty appetite throughout the busy morning. As the largest of RHSM's community service events, Adopt-a-block is a successful demonstration of the student's commitment to helping others and their ability to work with each other.

Charlie Oys caught sleeping on the job at Adopt-a-Block.

The assembled crew of hard workers for this year's Adopt-a-Block with some of the spoils of victory. The best part was yet to come, in the form of a deliciously-catered and intimately served pizza lunch. Hey, you missed a few leaves in the foreground, there!

I'm gonna have me a grand feast tonight.

Mommy said I can keep him.

Ew, I don't want to touch those!

This year's Lobsterfest was successful, with total sales reaching over one thousand for the upper school. Remarkably, the junior class sold over half of that total. "No class has ever approached what the junior class did this year," Dave Hall said, referring to the lobster sales.

Acknowledgement is also due to Gavin Cain, who sold 101 lobsters; and Anne Adamson, who sold 87 lobsters. Also, many thanks to Student Council, Tom Lombardi, and Dave Hall, all of whom helped organize the fundraiser.

Human Rights Week

The Rowland Hall-St. Mark's 1997 observance of Human Rights week ran from January 13 to January 19. This was the sixth of its kind at RHSM and was considered a success by all participants. A special morning meeting was held on Monday the 15th. Throughout the week advisories participated in door decorating and discussion of pertinent topics. On Thursday the 18th students gathered in the Larimer Center for a lecture given by Barbara Shaw, executive director of the Utah A.I.D.S. foundation. On Friday students attended two (out of a wide variety offered) seminars of their choice. The final event of the week was a presentation by Sarah Twombly of the Rape Crisis Center in Salt Lake City. Noah Hoagland, who was the head student coordinator for the week, remarked that "a great deal of hard work was put into making this year's Human Rights week happen." Many students and faculty agreed that this was the best organized and executed week of its kind in the history of RHSM.

Candle and Carol

The Rowland Hall-St. Mark's pre-Christmas tradition of Candle and Carol included readings by students, songs by the choir (sounding especially good this year, thanks to the inspired direction of director Maria Engren), and solos by student musicians. Headmaster Alan Sparrow had to handle the administration speeches by himself, since Principal Carl Sturges was battling a bad case of influenza.

St. Mark's Cathedral is always a place of special sanctity, but during the holiday season it seems to come alive with the spirit of RHSM tradition and history. At times (especially around 6:00 in the evening when we are fighting the urge to manufacture an excuse to miss this service) we might experience a questioning of this old school tradition. But for those who attend Candle and Carol, its magical and uplifting atmosphere have consistently left attendees with a renewed sense of inner peace, tranquility, and holiday spirit.

The 1996-97 French Club

This year the french club was involved in many community service projects. They were big contributors and planners of the Vortex Dance which was held in January. Although there is great competition between the clubs, they all came together to put on a successful dance. This was a fundraiser to raise money for Liz Aranzullo. Members of the club worked hard with the other clubs to sell tickets and prepare for the dance. At the Vortex the French club was in charge of selling drinks. Throughout the year the club took part in many fundraisers to raise money for trip to Quebec which they hope to do in the near future. The french club is led by Mr. Wortham, who is very supportive of all the students. This group of students is hard working, creative and very excited about the french language. What a great club!!]

Latin Club

Pieces of melon here, pieces of melon there, it will be great!

The Latin Club of 1996 has a ruling triumverate of Emily Slone-Pace, Ted Manka, and Tony Aston as acting presidents. The vice-presidents are Mike Monroe and Janette LeHoux; the secretary is Kelly Sheltra, the treasurer is Nick Burst; and there are two social directors: Luke Muir and Colin Motoki.

This year the club did many things such as trying to make a Junior Classical League group among the schools in Utah, throwing a toga dance, and going to work at the soup kitchen feeding the homeless.

We're sure excited to be here!

German Club: A Year of Goodbyes

"neener-neener!"

The students and faculty of RHSM were saddened by the elimination, at the end of the 1996-97 school year, of the small but effective German program which had operated in the middle and upper schools since 1985. Under the inspiration and tutelage of Brigitte Kirk, it produced numerous German speakers. Students participated in exchange programs to Augsburg, Laufen, and Berlin. Many German students elected to spend a year or summer at language camps and/or in a German-speaking country in order to perfect their speaking skills and immerse themselves in German culture. The first official language clubs and language honor societies at Rowland Hall-St. Mark's were created by the German Club in 1993. Many fondly remember annual fall visits to the Oktoberfest hikes, and delicious luncheons at Siegfried's Delicatessen in downtown Sa Lake City. The distinct sounds of the German language will be missed from the halls of RHSM, as will the many German students who have visited our campus. Wir lieben Deutsch. Aufwiedersehen!

The dance was a great success as well, not only for the Spanish Club but for the entire foreign language department. A large sum of money was collected and proceeds went to benefit Liz Arunzullo. T-shirts were also sold to benefit Liz.

Keep up the good work Spanish Club and we will see you next year!

Debate: Best Year Yet in 3-A

It takes a special kind of personality to succeed in this business!

This year's debate team performed exceptionally well. Team accomplishments included a first place award at the Utah Speech Arts Classic, and a third place award at the Western States Forensics Championship. As for individual awards . . . well, there are just too many to count! In February, the debate team did better than ever at the Stanford and Berkeley invitationals. In March RHSM won the state 3-A debate championship. Frank Langheinrich (the coach of the year?) said, "This is the best team I've had here in my eight years as coach!"

"...blah blah blah...Nuclear War...blah blah blah..."

"I know my lunch is in here somewhere."

National Honor Society

The 1996-1997 RHSM National Honor Society conducted numerous successful community service activities under the direction of Karen Quackenbush. Of special note was the Christmas party for local neighborhood preschoolers, a tradition which has grown over the past few years. Over fifty children visited Santa (a.k.a. Bubba Langheinrich) in the cafeteria, where they received presents, sage advice from Santa, and food with all the seasonal trappings. Other events included a clothing drive and a canned food drive. All in all, a fine organization.

This year's Community Service Council participated in several activities, among them: a Halloween Party at Kiwanis-Felt Recreation Center; a Benefit for Ronald McDonald House at Shriners' Hospital; a Good Samaritan Program at the Cathedral of the Madeleine; a Headstart Christmas Party; Sub for Santa; and a Crossroads Urban Center Pantry Canned Food Drive, to name only a few. This year, Chaplain Erica Meyers coordinated the activities.

Mosaic: A Year of Transition

The 1996-1997 Mosaic staff looks to the future.

Another great year for creative writing at RHSM. Andy Hoffman, who replaced Shelby Raebeck as the creative writing teacher, did a great job whipping the class into shape. The Mosaic was scheduled to be out by early May, sponsored by Hoffman and Richard Howe. As always, the class conducted the judging, editing, and production of the magazine. And as always, the writing and artwork were some of the best in the country. The tradition continues!

RHSM Continues to Grow Many Clubs . . .

Rowland Hall-St. Mark's has proven to be a school where extra-curricular clubs are very popular—witness the growing number of new clubs each year. For example, the Outdoor Club, new this year, was one of the most popular and ambitious. There were several others (not listed on this page, but which nevertheless got off the ground—we hope to feature them in next year's Hallmark) such as the Socialist Club, the Muse Literary Club, and the Liberals Club whose flags flew briefly during the year, yet were furled by year's-end. What will next year bring?

Millions of pennies . . .

RHSM's goal: 500,000 penn

by Tom Lombardi, '97, and Jake Semmel, '97

On Wednesday, December 4, RHSM kicked-off its participation in the 1996 Millions of Pennies Campaign, which ends on Friday, December 20. The campaign involves many Salt Lake City high schools competing to see which school can raise the most pennies, with all of the pennies being donated to the Salt Lake Community Shelter and Resource Center, which is operated by the Travelers Aid Society. The shelter provides shelter and support services to needy individuals in Salt Lake City.

A December 4 morning meeting helped to start the penny drive at RHSM. Honest Abe, the official

A great year for Editor Lombardi and the entire Gazette staff . . .

What a great year for the Gazette! Editor Tom Lombardi and his chief assistants Mike "Tito" Billings and Bill Neville inspired the staff as never before. The paper hit the streets on the first day of school and never stopped running—an issue each month, on time, full of news and entertainment, with something for everyone. And as several letters-to-the-editor attested, the paper was read from cover to cover—"We couldn't put it down!" Of special note were the regular contributions by Rex Cornwell and Andrew Ralph. This year also saw the continued rise of technological tools to new heights in the production of the Gazette. With the installation of a state-of-the-art schoolwide computer network and high-powered workstations, the paper's production finally reached its potential as a showcase for what technology can do. Great job!

Waiting for the top story!

Emily and Brooke: Blond Ambition

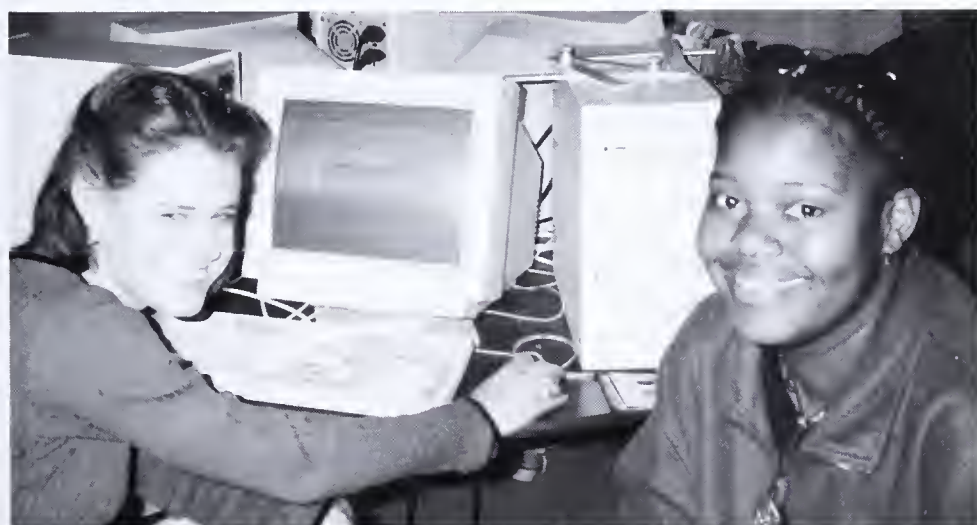

Michelle is having the time of her life.

This year's yearbook staff worked endless hours to create the masterpiece you see before you. Under the leadership of Emily Barrett, editor, and Richard Howe, advisor, the book was a great success. One of our top goals was to have it out way early before the end of the school year. Of much interest was the implementation of all that new technology in the production of the yearbook. The new computer network took a little getting used to, but once it was up and running, it never stopped humming!

This year's staff consisted of Jamie Agraz, Whitney Brinton, Michelle Brooks, Joanne Castillo, Gina Hansen, Anne Henricks, Christina Lau, Gina Martinez, Alexis Paulos, Jennifer Ralph, Deepa Ramachandran, Chelne Stamper, Tara Tribe, Brooke Warburton and Alex White. And of course, all the great photography was the work of Brian Hartman.

We hope you like our work and enjoy this year's Hallmark!

This year's student council was a group of hard-working individuals. They were excited from day one, and continued to be strong throughout the year. They went from great dances to hilarious weekly assemblies to successful fundraisers. The back-to-school stomp commenced the year with an appearance by the police . . .

. . . it was merely concerning a noise complaint. President Maack handled it with great finesse. The Lobsterfest was also a great success this year, followed by the Penny Drive. The fundraiser was to raise money to go to the Travelers Aid Society for the homeless. It included a raffle for gift certificates, massages, VIP Jazz tickets, U of U basketball tickets, and a trip to Disneyland and many other cool prizes. It also included teachers agreeing to do different things if the jar in their room was filled with pennies by students. Cross-dressing, running thirteen miles in a santa suit, kissing pigs, shaving heads and many other creative things.

... were the highlight of the week for a lot of students. They gave students a chance to be embarrassed, have fun, and laugh! Ranging from video competitions (seniors won), to spontaneous solo dances (seniors won), to game shows. Of course nothing was rigged!! The Student Council had a very successful year and should be proud of all of the hard-work and accomplishments. Great Job!

The 1996-97 RHSM Dance Company had a very successful year. They performed in several chapels, morning meetings, and participated in the Brighton Dance Concert in December. The company also conducted two of their own concerts. Several of these dances were choreographed by well-known artists, including Janet Gray, Tina Miaka, Todd Allen, and Don Decker. The dancers themselves also had opportunities to help choreograph some dance routines. All in all, this was a strong year for the dance program at RHSM. Congratulation to the dancers and especially to Joan Kingston, one of the best dance teachers in the region if not in the nation!

1996 Fall Musical

The RHSM musical theater department produced the show "Little Shop of Horrors" this year. The cast included Sam Littlefield and Emily Sloan-Pace as the tragic lovers Seymour and Audrey. James Pierce played Orin; Mike Monroe was Mr. Mushnik. The three be-bop girls—Chiffon, Crystal, and Ronette—were played by Betsy Tohinaka, Nicole Larson, and Tracy Manaster. Antara Kanth and Leah Schallheim shared the role of the plant, Audrey II. Other cast members included Rose Mogharrab, JZ Davis, Maike Davis, Christina Crouch, Alexandria Rasmussen, Bill Neville, Keith Stevens, and Adryon Burton.

The production took place November 8–10 and was directed by Maria Engren, Joan Kingston, and Traci Brand.

The RHSM Stage Crew and Band contributed mightily to the success of the show.

Due to the audiences' memories and the few journals which were completed by the cast, the show will never be forgotten.

Band

DUDE!!

I almost know this song!

Members of the band were few and far between this year but that didn't stop them from playing. With little practice they went on stage at the mandatory Christmas fine arts concert, and gave a great performance. They also, as the pep band, played volleyball games and basketball games which was a delight for all the fans. Their talent shined through during the musical, Little Shop of Horrors, with them only using the special effect (computer) band playing along only on one song.

Chorus

Gee, this is exciting!

Fun with knives.

We don't really need the teachers do we?

What a Great Year for the RHSM Chorus!

The RHSM chorus this year was larger than ever, with a record of nine men involved. The chorus participated in all of the fine arts concerts throughout the year. Also, they participated in the traditions of Candle and Carol, and graduation. Maria Engren took this year's chorus to competition against 2A schools, which was a great feat. There seemed to be a general consensus around the school that the chorus sounded better, performed better, and looked better than ever before.

Members shown in picture: Bill Neville, Neil Olsen, Rex Cornwell, Chelne Stamper, Alex Quinn, Mike Monroe, Janette LeHoux, Kerstin Forsythe, Tracy Manaster, Anna Snipes, Carrie Cornwell, Kyle Walton, Anami Sheppard, Leah Schallheim, Barbara North, Teacher: Maria Engren, Logan Page. THIS YEAR'S WOMEN'S SOCCER TEAM participated for the first time in the 3A Division. Our region included three of the top teams in the state (Park City, Wasatch, and Lehi) and was extremely competitive. Chris Agnello said, "Although our record was unfavorable, we experienced success in the form of development among our young players. We expect to see the benefits of this in years to come." Hats off to the players and coaches.

Women's Tennis Completes Awesome Season

What a year the RHSM women's tennis team had! With depth and strength the team raged through the region meet and journeyed to Grantsville for the state meet. In a tough tournament RHSM tied with Grantsville, despite the fact that the entire town of Grantsville turned out for the event. In singles, Tara Tribe and Anne Henricks each took firsts; Jessie Wolfe took fifth. In doubles, Jenny Ralph and Michelle Brooks took first in their event; Katie Bernhiesel and Anna Palmer took second.

All season long these girls provided RHSM fans with excitement, drama, and spectacular play. And the good part about it is, the team is young. Now that the members know how to compete against Grantsville, next year should be a dynamite season!

We all know they're the best!

"Focus, Meghan.
14...95...52...14...95...52..."

Raise your hands to be SURE!!!

The women's volleyball team went into the season with no name, and was expected by the other teams in the region to not do well. However, the team did exceptionally well this year.

During the regular season the team glided to a record of 9-3, which put them into 2nd place in Region 12. In the first round of regions the girls faced Gunnison; they won this game and advanced to play North Summit, who defeated them in a close battle. The next hill they had to overcome was South Summit, and the girls emerged victorious.

Their showing at regions put them in 3rd place, and qualified them for the state 2-A tournament. The state tournament was a double elimination tournament, and RHSM lost to Beaver and South Sevier.

The girls ended up placing 7th overall in the state in 2-A. Coach Tomsic said that "the girls played well, but not their best." The absence of two strong players unavailable for competition and an injury suffered by Jenna Biligotis, '98, during the second round of competition may have led to the uneventful showing the team made in state action.

Meghan Tuohig, '98, made the all-region team for Region 12, and Kristin Hilger, '97, received an award for most service aces. The Utah Highschool Volleyball Coaches Association nominated Tuohig and Hilger as all-state, and Hilger was invited to play for the senior all-star team.

The coaching staff was proud of the team's hard work, their accomplishments, and of the kids in general. They are also looking forward to next year, because they lose just two seniors and they have some good prospects coming up from 8th grade.

Leader of the Pack

David and Goliath, Round Two

Hey, wait! You just ran over a cat!

This year's cross-country season was extremely successful. The state meet at Sugarhouse Park yielded fabulous results. James Allred, '99, placed an impressive tenth place in 2-A mens' competition, and Ellie Culp, '97, finished in first place in the womens division. When asked to comment on the success of the season, Allred replied, "It was hard work, but the fruits of success were sweet."

The team was once again coached by John Schiefer and Jane Barret. However, the team was handicapped by a lack of numbers, due in part to two things. First, five key runners graduated. Second, the defection of last year's J-V team, composed of Grant Burninham, '98, Gavin Cain, '98, and Andy Vinton, '99, also damaged the forces.

Even with a small force, determination prevailed. The team competed in two invitational races at Murry and Cottonwood, and four regional races at Morgan, St. Joseph, Grantsville, and once again at Morgan.

Once again a large congratulations goes out to the entire team, composed of Dustin Cartwright, '00, James Allred, '98, Suzannah Pels, '98, Deepa Ramachandran, '98, Divya Ramachandran, '00, Janette LeHoux, '98, Catherine Clark, '00, Amani Sheppard, '97, and Ellie Culp, '97.

Yuck, what is on this ball?!?!

Suzannah does the Macarena, or is it the chicken dance?

The Rowland Hall-St Mark's Women's Basketball team had a very successful season this year. Their season record qualified them to advance to the region playoffs. They played well but were eliminated in the early rounds.

Compared to the beginning of the season, when the team shot an average of 21 points per game, they achieved a shooting average of 41 points per game by season's end. The team grew in both maturity and experience and improved in all aspects of the game.

The team was very young this year and also very small (consisting of only fourteen members for both junior varsity and varsity and no seniors!) Another remarkable trait about the women's basketball team was their support for each other. The team says that they felt like sisters!

The men's basketball team finished the season with a record of 6-14, and a region 12 record of 2-11. The team consisted of six seniors, who led the Varsity team in their season. The Varsity team included; Luke Flockerzi (Captain), Mark Langheinrich, Mark Long, Cody Skarning, Michael Billings, Adam Nelson, Mike Stewart, Chris Hill, Jeff Miller, Travis Otten, Adam Senekjian, Adrew Dalglish, Andrew Lawrence, Walker Williams, The Junior Varsity team included; Rusty Michalak, Robert Wood, and (not pictured) David Sandberg. The Freshmen team included; Eric Heath, Vivek Bidwai, Beau Burbidge, Geoff Christiansen, David Kaplan, Chris Andrews, Don Coleman, James Ralph, Nate Kogan, and Ethan Lappe. The head coach was John Windham, junior varsity was Chad Folsom, and Freshmen was Scott Crawford. Great season boys!!

Swim Team at its finest.

The Rowland Hall- St. Mark's 1996-1997 swim team had another successful year. The team finished fourth in the state 3-A tournament in Provo February 7-8. The 200 medley relay team of Calli Payne, Ashley Page, Carrie Thompson, and Sara Watchorn set a new state record with a time of 1:53:16, shattering the former state record by four seconds.

Other major accomplishments were made by Kelly Wells, Alison McIntosh, David Dunn, Will Springmeyer, and Andy Gardner.

The divers also did well. Rebecca Larsen won a fifth-place medal in the one-meter springboard diving event, and Rhett Panos placed second in the one-meter.

Alison McIntosh and Carrie Thompson were named to the Utah High School Activities Association Girl's Academic All-State Swim Team, an honor bestowed upon only eight other athletes this year.

Congratulations for another awesome season swimmers!

Rowmark: On the Edge

Team Captain Jesse Keene is on the edge.

Word!

Late to another meeting, again!!

Julia Babilis is showing us how its done.

Double trouble!

Uhhhhhhhhh!!!

The 1996-97 Rowmark team had another great season with racers posting numerous wins in all divisions. Team lead by captains Jessica Lyle, '98, and Jesse Keene, '97, this year's team also included seniors Michelle Parry, and Heather Polhemus; juniors Christina Babilis, Kristina Breggren, Charlie Oys, and Jendy Roth; sophomores Issa Chan, Jason Foster, Thomas Jackson, Brittany Magiera, and Robert Saunders; freshmen Julia Babilis, Robert Brady, Jonathan Larsen, and Hart Williams; and post-graduates Nanako Bannai, Erin Costello, Joanne Savides, Peter Shaffer, and Gusty Swift.

"This year we have one of the most promising teams. We may see some of the current Rowmarkers perform in the Salt Lake City 2002 Winter Olympics." —Olle Larson Team Captain Jessica Lyle is ready to race.

My High School career has been one of the most enjoyable experiences of my life thanks to the R.H.S.M. faculty, students, and alumni. During my years at R.H.S.M. I have experienced everything a student at R.H.S.M. could experience. I will never forget the much anticipated Basketball games against rival opponents, the pressure of a State Championship tennis match, and most of all the GIRLS. My friends at R.H.S.M. have given memories that I will forever keep with me. Bubba: "You Jerk! I wish you were dead!" "Try not to go 4-Wheeling and get stuck in the mud. Eric: "Oops! That may have been the gun!" Von Maack: "Keep those TM2 skills honed. They will be useful in whatever profession you choose." Suzannah: "What's so funny? Horizontally-striped shirts?" Jenna: "Thanks for ditching me! I didn't want to come anyway." I feel that I need to thank my parents, my grandparents, my sister, and my friends for all their love and support. It means a lot to me. Thanks to the boys tennis team, Rich, and Knute! -Matt

Thirteen years at Rowland Hall have finally come to an end. We'll all go our separate ways, and the only thing that will ever be the same is we'll all look back and remember what a hell of a good time we had. Thanks to every one who made it happen. Emily - there's not enough space to thank you enough for all that you've done, but mostly thanks for making me smile. Matt - let's get into mischief . . . again. Bub - we always had a good time and together we made the most inefficient working crew ever assembled. Mark - all the mini b-ball games and dunk ball games, we made a great team on or off the court. Luke - we were the best doubles team in the state, and had a hell of a time doing it. Stu - remember where those Dakotas are so you don't get lost, and keep hitting those links. Cody - all those 21 games in your front driveway, and everything in between. Liv - dream, and use your passion to live them out. Thanks for making me smile. What are we going to do tonight? - Eric

Well, after five years at Rowland Hall, I have to summerize all my memories in a few lines. To my mom--thank you for taking care of me and being the wonderful person you are. To Tim, I'll miss you and thank you for supporting me when I needed it. To Marilee, Neeta, Ralph, Helen, Laura, and Angie--thanks for the wonderful memories. You are my best friends and I wish you luck in college (Ang-I wish you luck at RHSM for another year). I guess in keeping with my trend of collecting quotes, I will leave RHSM with a few quotes to ponder on. "When you find that life has no meaning, you must find a new meaning." "Life is mostly froth and bubble/Two things stand like stone/Kindness in another's trouble/Courage in your own." To all those I know and love, good luck in college and in the rest of your life. It is amazing--I spent five years looking forward to the day I graduated, and will spend the rest of my life remembering the wonderful time I had in high school, and the wonderful people I knew. Thank you all and I love you all--Jennifer Lohmann

Thanks to all our friends: " the Clan", E.T. J.W. J.K. J.K. R.S. P.H. N.H. D.C. A.N. J.S. P.H... Best luck to Mo-To-Ki, and Johnny. It was a long trip that was started with wide eyes--three times, ten minutes a piece. But change and memory making is a journey that will never cease, where sustenance is provided by circus peanuts and pink cookies, and the modes of transportation are a yellow spaceship, a red dolly and a Roll O'Plane. And oh, the places we've visited!--pool hopping in Denver, the Bagelry, every convenience store in San Fran, truck stops and XXX, Kansas City, the trains missed, Little Red Riding Hood's forest, Makeup Mobile-the places it's seen, Sun Valley, cheap meat at B&D's, the times we forgot Neeta, where was Neeta! But it all happened so fast--lost keys, walks on the shores of San Diego, baboons, golf courses, Chihuahuas, Connecticut rain dances, DM Band, prom plots in Enviro.Sci, Razzles, Coke and Abercrombie, sunrises and stale croissants. The friends we made and lost--Scarface, Binkey the Denny's Bear, New Zealanders, Princess, Ken, Aryan Nation Poster Children, the Echo Man and his master. Realizations made--"Ultimate Drivning Song" leads to

Thank you all so much for all the memories I will never forget from these years of my life at Rowland Hall. San Diego, the many trips to Disneyland (Seth and Terrance, 90 degrees exit off the freeway, those French guys in the Indian Jones line), H.O.R.D.E., the Samples concert, the bathroom scenes (interim:how do you spell that, Media Play), hanging out with the Einseins' crowd, the basketball games, give blood bowl, obsession, go tiger, that man in Crown Burger, kitty, sly sisters, turn the air conditioner off, the University Mall food court, the Real World, Have a nice trip see you next fall (Smith's, skiing, the parking lot), wheat-grass, I feel lucky (cowgirls), the S.S. Shawn, those guys need more bread, I'm allergic to mayo, tighter...explode, I hate you, I'm going to kiss..., nights at the Training Table, dancing at the San Diego zoo and on the beach, and so much more. To my friends and family, who have been there over the years, thank you for the support and love you have given me, I love all of you.-Therese Erick

Ho humm... the end of High school, who cares work work and more work ahead. But I had a fun time along the way, some of the time?! Great fun playing hearts w/ Jeff, Guy and Dave in Italy. Great fun in Florance. Tom, great fun taking advantage of all those lazy people who didn't want to work for history. I will eventually a great job and kick *ss and live the life. One of the reasons that this shcool is so great are the teachers who actually give a flying F through a rolling donut. Mr. C you have been the best of buddies, advisory was loads of fun, the great biking adventure and your help through all the hard times! Magistra O, you have been a saint of a teacher, putting up with us for as long as you did and teaching us so much is a herculean feat, and thanks for being there for me and being a friend. Eric L. you are a great guy but you need to lossen up. James, you thought I would forget you. HA! I thinkith not. You have not only been a true friend but you have been one of the only people who truely understands me.---Ted "Thor" Manka SUT!

Well, it is finally over, and I must say that high school wasn't what I thought it would be. They say that this is one of the best times of our lives, but I guess we won't really know that until we are old enough to tell our children all of our stories. There are lots of memories, like Stanford in ninth grade. (Ralph, buildings really don't bounce. I promise.) Dance concerts, class, singing with Andy. I guess that I'm not as good at inside jokes as most people are, so I'll just stick to the kind of cheesy stuff: I've been here since seventh grade and this school has definitely made an impact in who I have become. There are plenty of good memories, and some that aren't quite so good. I just wanted to say that I won't forget this, even though that sounds cliched, but I guess that cliches become that way, cause their true. So, I think we should take the good with us, and leave the bad behind. College is coming up, and, some day, life will slap us in the face. So, good luck to all of you. Alles Gute.

Helen Michael

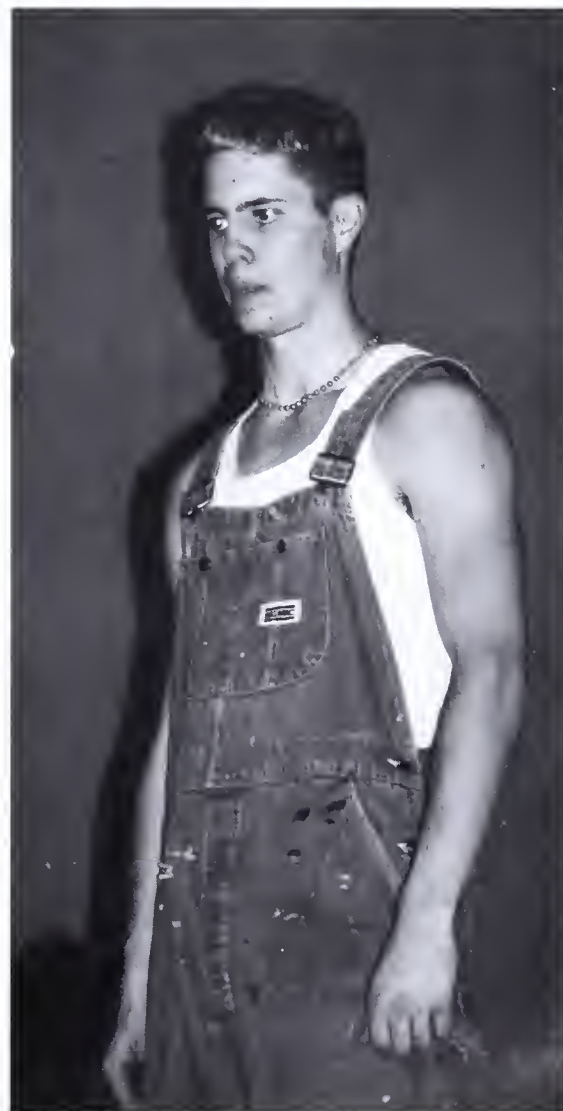

Mom, Frank, Eric, and Jenny: Thank you for the great examples and all the help you gave me. Rico Suave: "I have a brother?" "You two holding that wall down?" Let's go muddin soon. Matt: Are you sure that's proper gun safety? E and M: Man you have to drop trou. Cody: Squirrel boy, Super Hoots, I'll buy those cheese logs off of you. Always run the keeper. Luke: It's Okay, I gave her the wave. Could you check the instant replay in your head back for us. Mark: Twisted Metal and Ding Dongs, WWF w/ Paul. People are coming over, even when I don't invite them. Jenna: I'm just gonna sit at home if you won't decide. Stewy: Boogie Man, now you have the title. Doug: I've known you forever. Your own mom is deporting you?Tito: I can't believe a box of donuts brought us together. Jeff: Hey guys, what are we doing tonight? Lins and Alex: Don't listen to the doubters. Suz and Erin: You two have changed my life for the better. Em: Bye Bye, Fat guy in a litte coat. Boom Bobby. High School is the best, but I'm not coming back next year. You Smart Ass

"The person who said winning isn't everything never won anything!" What a ride, 15 years at RHSM and hopefully all the better. Finding our way through the subway system in Berlin and evading the riot of angry Germans by going into Burger King-while all the police were busy protecting the BMW store. The hours of anguish from AP American outlines, sleepless nights because of German so hard nobody could master it. It's impossible to escape high school without thinking about the long hours of debate. The agony of defeat and the thrill of victory as competitors were vanquished and I was decimated at the Round Robin. Long nights driving back from distant tournaments will always be among my fondest memories of high school-thank you all past and present that made those trips what they were. Thank you to all my teachers I will never forget-Angela, the Doctor, Mr. Henry, Doc, and all the others. All my friends who I have lived a lifetime with and will always be frinds with. To Angie. To my parents-Thank You all! -Gill son: There's so much to say, you are such a true friend. "As the pool turns" will never die-we should have killed Peter when he was in the country! Macy: What can I say my wild comrade, thanks for laughs, dances, and Pixie Sticks.-what did you say those hoo-doo look like John? Josie: you are a wonderful friend-remember that I will always be there when you need a shoulder or two to lean on. Ana: Deutsch macht spaß, Ja Oh god, we should have escaped while we still could. Thanks for the laughs-have a blast at Earlham. Anami: 12 words, we are all like popcorn, some of us just haven't popped yet. Kelly: If you're talking to me by graduation then thanks for being my Health, Physics, and Psych bud. Diane: I'm sorry but there's nothing we can do about the y chromosome-thanks for being my understanding distinction chair. Tara: In I wuv you-I can't wait to e-mail you from college-enjoy the mint-your least stressed out college student. Pyper: Peeper thanks fro the help and patience. Maria: How can I ever repay you for instilling a confidence in me that is permanent.

John, Barb, Alex, Doug: Thanks for adopting me as the permanent house guest, just chilling like Kato in the Reid estate. Doug: Brown most of the time, but red, blue, blonde, and whatever else you tried, you're still my boy. You created the man, the myth, the legend, the one and only TITO! Bubba: Never again will it be as simple as 2 liter bottles and tapes balls. You used me for a lousy donut. Luke: No one remembers anything I said, for the most part. Tom L.: Thanks for telling me everything to know about math, kind of. Cody: You know who I'm thinking about. Mark L: You know what I'm thinking about, you never called them back! All the good times: Interims, sailing, Bubba the gimp, Hollywood, the Tropicana, Amusement parks, Magic Mountain!, Spring Break '94: Lanai! Money for X-mas, basketball, baseball, van rides, Tito's questionable taste in the opposite sex. Dallas Bice, no questions there. bingo, big X!, "I farted." Warren aka Waz, The bad time: Calculus!

RHSM has taught me a great deal, and I just wanted to extend my heartfelt gratitude to everyone who has supported me here. I especially want to thank my teachers for their eagerness to impart some of their knowledge to a new generation, and Mr. Ian Cummings, without whose help I never would have found the opportunity to attend Rowland Hall, and my family for their consistent support throughout and despite my personal triumphs and turmoils. Also to my friends (both of them?), who have endured my perpetual abnormality. Always remember me as a man who was good with numbers--the infamous 5.2 seconds, the 47 second marathon, qtr. pounder w/ cheese x 11, 0 for 6 with RHSM women (I returned the favor), my solid (some may say concrete) driving record, the pink Land Cruiser Tsing Tao @ 96 mph, How fast?, U2, DMB, MGD, NWA, NPR, NWO--Hot Buttered Boys, Berliner Kindl, Mountain Dew, Wedgebuster Posse, fuzzy San Fran w/ Fred, Going Up? Um.. Flying high! Freud, Pavlov, Anderson? Stanford--Here I come!!

Rdrunnr,
your shoes have carried you to success. They have tread the road that your own hands built.

No longer are your legs too short nor your feet too small. You have run over obstacles, learned the turns, kept your legs moving, and your eyes focused on the finish line.

We are so proud of you and your accomplishments.
New hills will take you to new heights.

WE LOVE YOU

CONGRATULATIONS DEL

Our first child's a son.
We cry out "Oh, for fun!"
just prior to entering the state.
We know he's a blank and we have many to thank
as we speculate upon his fate

Intending no harm
on our family farm,
we exposed him to many a pet.
Relationships form,
though many weren't warm.
In fact, some he'd rather forget.

On his first day of school,
he was feeling quite cool
given opportunities now to rebel.
but with lessons to learn,
curiosities burn,
he chose instead to excel.

Learning music so fine,
barely time to recline,
making sure every note was in tune.
Or he might do a trick gathering up sword or stick using an incantation or rune.

In tenth, he'd embark,
Rowland Hall and St. Mark,
where most of his spare time was spent.
Now we offer a crown
to go with the gown,
valdictorian and president.

So! DEL,

As you pass through this phase
into your college days,
up to this time, your effort's been great.
Though we haven't a clue
as to how well you'll do,
all we know is it will be first rate.

Cody,

In life, many things will catch your eye,
but only a few will catch your heart.

Pursue those.

Continue to pursue your dreams, for you surely have the ability to fulfill them. Our love and pride in you are immeasurable!!

Tom:

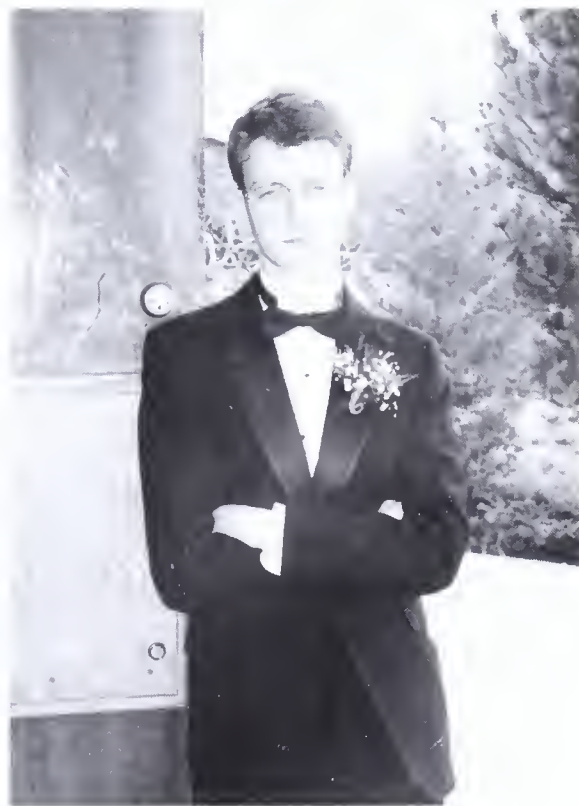

May the road rise up to meet you.

May the wind always be at your back.

May God hold you in the palm of His hand.

An Irish Blessing

Love, Dad, Mom, Mary, "Champ"

I will not say to you, "This is the Way; walk in it."
 For I do not know your way or where the Spirit may call you.
 It may be to paths I have never trod or ships on the sea leading to unimagined lands afar,
 Or haply, to a star!
 Or yet again
 Through dark and perilous places racked with pain and full of fear
 Your road may lead you far away from me or near—
 I cannot guess or guide, but only stand aside.
 Just this I say:
 I know for every truth there is a way for each to walk a right for each to choose, a truth to use.
 And though you wander far, your soul will know that true path when you find it.
 Therefore, go!
 I will fear nothing for you day or night!
 I will not grieve at all because your light is called by some new name;
 Truth is the same!

It matters nothing to call it star or sun—
 All light is one.

Anna,
 You're the light of my life! I love you so much and am so proud of all that you are.

Mom

Anna,
 Congratulations on completing your work at Rowland Hall and best wishes in your future educa-

Brazilian Butterflies

The monarchs are migrating to Brazil.
Thousands of miles to the south, they sweep on fragile wings just barely right for flying.
Interfering with the orange of the sun,
black marks, moving platoon like through their paces.

One butterfly becomes trapped in a page of my son's storybook.
The wings go up and down.
Scaring him with vivid colors,
it waits to be freed from the pages.

My son, trapped in his child's body in this house can only dream of jungles where his butterfly will play.
Noticing that he can move arms and legs in concentric movements, I tell him to wait: The time will come when he can join the butterflies in Brazil.

We are so happy for you and so proud of you.

Always, with love,
Mom, Tim, Jenny,
Kyle, Fritha, Nana,
& Taya

To One Cute Dude—Phil Holty

To our final high school graduate of five brothers, we wish you only the "best" along with your future "solo" journey. May you always be optimistic, resourceful, happy, full of hope for the future, and especially be "true to yourself." We will always be behind you 100% in all your endeavors. May all your hopes and dreams come true. "Lykke til." Much love to you, Phill, from Mom, Jon-Erik, Steve, Jeremy, and Matt.
